

South Hill Model Railroad Museum

The Town of South Hill welcomes you to the South Hill Model Railroad Museum. Located in the restored South Hill Depot at 201 S. Mecklenburg Avenue; the HO model trains represent over 200 miles of fun tracks in Virginia known as the Wiggle, Bump and Agony. You will also see the Atlantic & Danville Model Railroad, which is the focal point of the museum. The A&D is an HO scale model of the trains and towns, circa 1950, as it ran through South Hill encompassing the route from Lawrenceville, Virginia to Clarksville, Virginia.

Also featured are: Old Toy Trains, historical documents, photographs and artifacts from South Hill's past. You can even see an authentic Caboose located on the Depot grounds. Children of all ages love the trains and will enjoy a visit to our museum.

Open Daily
9:00 am – 4:00 pm

Free Admission
Donations Accepted

As you journey throughout the train museum be sure to see the various wildlife on display. From bald eagles to bobcats you can see the Southside Virginia woods come to life!

DOLLS

FIND YOUR FAVORITE HERE!

If you like dolls, you'll love the Virginia S. Evans Doll Museum located in the Depot. Over 500 dolls are on display with some dating back to the mid 1800's. You will surely see one that reminds you of your childhood. You will also see doll furniture, dollhouses and carriages.

Everyone loves to visit the Virginia S. Evans Doll Museum in South Hill.

Let the kids have fun and you take a break too in South Hill's Centennial Park just around the corner from the Depot. Grab a bag of food from one of our fine restaurants and enjoy a picnic, playground fun or just a relaxing walk in the trees. Pull up a bench or sit back in the Gazebo and take a break in our beautiful park.
